

Bless the Lord

David Alan Firth

Sun and moon bless the Lord.
Stars of Heaven, bless the Lord.
Every shower, every dew, all the rain.
Fire and heat, bless the Lord.
Cold and chill, bless the Lord.
Ice and snow, night and day, bless the Lord.

For He is good. He is kind.
He can place in each one's mind
All the beauty that He wants this world to show.
And with the manna from the sky
That He sends to you and I,
Yes He sends His love and we begin to grow.

All you birds of the air, all you beasts wild and tame,
All you creatures of the water, bless the Lord.
All you women, bless the Lord. All you children, bless the Lord.
Holy men of humble hearts, bless the Lord.

For He is beautiful and smart. He can build in each one's hearts
To be strong and be righteous in His name.
And yes He loves us one and all, the big ones and the small
And His love's in season, blooming every day.

All you priests, bless the Lord. Let the flowers bless the Lord.
Let the earth from sea to sea, bless the Lord.
Bless the Lord. Bless the Lord. Bless the Lord. Bless the Lord.
Thank the Lord. Love the Lord. Bless...the Lord.

Copyright © 1978, 1980, 2022 by David Alan Firth