

Change

David Alan Firth

Things are gonna change. And it's way overdue.
Gonna step into the light and face the truth.
No more compromise. No apologies.
Yeah there's gonna be some change,
Beginning with me.

Gonna listen to my heart, for the voice that knows me well.
And follow where it leads me out of my custom fitted hell.
I'm gonna listen for the song that only I can sing.
A melody of freedom proclaiming all that I can be.

Things are gonna change. And it's way overdue.
Gonna step into the light and face the truth.
No more compromise. No apologies.
Yeah there's gonna be some change,
Beginning with me.

I'm gonna stop all my complaining about the things I can't control.
And use the energy to build a boat to sail the bliss that fills my soul.
I'm gonna change my point of view by getting out of the past
And savor every moment 'cause it's the only time I have.

Things are gonna change. And it's way overdue.
Gonna step into the light and face the truth.
No more compromise. No apologies.
Yeah there's gonna be some change,
Beginning with me.

I'm gonna lose the attitude and replace it with a smile.
And stop trying to impress you. Let you know me like a child.
I'm gonna change what I believe and what I value in life.
I don't need someone to define me. I'll find the passion deep inside.

Things are gonna change. And it's way overdue.
Gonna step into the light and face the truth.
No more compromise. No apologies.
Yeah there's gonna be some change,
Beginning with me.
Beginning with me.

Things will change...in me.